Severe Weather Hits Iowa

Beginning May 16, a series of severe storms, tornadoes and flash floods battered parts of Iowa. In response, Gov. Thomas Vilsack requested federal disaster aid, which was granted May 21, when President Clinton declared ten counties federal disaster areas. More counties may be added.

The declaration enabled the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and other federal agencies to team up with state and local disaster workers to help storm, flood and tornado victims in the affected areas.

“The federal-state partnership enables us to provide victims with easy access to a wide range of disaster recovery assistance,” Gov. Vilsack said.

The aid, to be coordinated at the federal level by FEMA, can include grants to help pay for temporary housing, minor home repairs and other serious disaster-related expenses. Low-interest loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) also are available to cover uninsured or underinsured private and business property losses.

FEMA Director James Lee Witt urged those who suffered flood damages to register promptly for assistance.

“It’s really tough when you see so many people lose the possessions they have worked all their lives to accumulate,” Witt said. “But there are some actions each of us can take to lessen the effects of future disasters. This is the focus of FEMA’s Project Impact, an effort to build disaster-resistant communities.”

Witt named Curt Musgrave to coordinate the federal relief effort to help victims of the severe storms and flooding.

“We want to help people recover as quickly as possible,” Musgrave said. “We want them to know we are concerned, and we will be there to help them apply for aid and answer their questions.”

PRESIDENT

BILL CLINTON

My heart goes out to all Iowans affected by the storms, floods and tornadoes.

This has been an extremely rough time for thousands of Iowa residents. This is not the first time that many of you are repairing damaged roofs, cleaning up debris and trying to preserve your precious keepsakes and belongings. It is hard to do all this and still hold back the tears. Recovering from a disaster is slow and painful.

A primary responsibility of the federal government is to be there when disaster strikes and to stick by people until they can get back on their feet. I directed that residents of Iowa be eligible to apply for federal disaster assistance by using the toll-free registration number listed in this publication. Through the application process, low-interest loans, housing grants, home-repair grants and other aid programs are quickly available.

I assure you that in the weeks and months to come, your government will continue to support you in your efforts to rebuild your lives and communities. We will be with you, along with our state and local government partners, for as long as it takes to help you on the road to recovery.

Our hearts and prayers are with you, and I wish all of the people of Iowa impacted by the severe storms and flooding Godspeed in your recovery.

A M E S S A G E F R O M

GOVERNOR

THOMAS VILSACK

In the aftermath of tornadoes, severe storms and flooding, Iowans have begun to rebuild and start their lives again.

Iowa was hit hard on May 16, 1999, with tornadoes in western Iowa and severe storms and flooding in eastern Iowa. In response to recent events, a state of emergency was declared which authorized the use of state personnel and resources to assist local officials and citizens in Black Hawk, Bremer, Buchanan, Clayton, Delaware, Dubuque, Fayette, Harrison, Jones and Linn Counties.

Many communities received devastating damages and assistance was provided by a number of state and volunteer agencies. The Iowa Emergency Management Division continues to coordinate disaster recovery efforts.

With the issuance of a presidential declaration for major disaster on May 21, the state, working with its federal counterparts, began organizing and providing support to citizens, businesses and local governments in their recovery efforts. Citizens and business owners in declared counties may be eligible for aid from a variety of federal and state programs. Local governments are receiving help to clean up, rebuild and repair roads, bridges and other facilities.

As governor, I am certain the efforts of the state and federal agencies will continue to be instrumental in providing the citizens of Iowa quick and effective disaster response and recovery. Their efforts will be greatly appreciated.

Filing a Flood Insurance Claim

If you have flood insurance, call your insurance agent to report your claim. The agent will prepare a Notice of Loss form and an adjuster will be assigned to assist you.

If possible, photograph the outside of the premises, showing the flooding and the damage. Also, photograph the inside of the premises, showing the damaged property and the height of the water.

Separate damaged from undamaged property. Put damaged property in the best possible order for the adjuster's examination.

Dispose of damaged property which presents a health hazard or which may hamper clean-up operations. Be sure to describe adequately all discarded items so that when the adjuster examines your losses and your records, these articles are included in the documentation.

Compile a room-by-room inventory of missing or damaged goods and include manufacturers' names, dates and places of purchase and prices. Try to locate receipts or proofs of purchase, especially for large appliances.

When the adjuster visits your property, let him or her know if you need an advance or partial payment of loss. Good records can speed up settlement of your claim.

Make sure disaster aid goes to those who deserve it.

SBA Low-Interest Loans

Low-interest loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) are the primary form of federal assistance for long-term recovery for homeowners and renters, as well as businesses of all sizes. These SBA loans fund repairs of damages to private property that is not fully covered by insurance. By making affordable loans, the SBA disaster program helps disaster victims pay for repairs while keeping costs to the taxpayer reasonable.

SBA disaster loans of up to $200,000 are available to homeowners for real estate repairs, and up to $40,000 for replacement of disaster-damaged personal property.

SBA analyzes the income and debts of a homeowner or renter and if SBA determines the disaster victim cannot afford an SBA disaster loan, SBA may automatically refer the applicant to the Individual and Family Grant Program.

Businesses of all sizes and private non-profit organizations may apply for low-interest disaster loans from SBA to repair or replace disaster-damaged real estate, machinery and equipment, inventory and other business assets. Loans up to $1.5 million are available for losses not fully covered by insurance.

For small businesses only, SBA makes Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) to provide working capital to pay necessary obligations until operations return to normal after the disaster. These working capital loans are available to businesses financially impacted by the disaster, even if they had no property damage. Small businesses located in counties contiguous to the designated counties also may apply for these economic injury loans.

If you need help in completing your loan application, you can get help from an SBA representative at all disaster recovery centers or by calling 800-366-6303.

Mud, Mildew? How to Get Rid of It

Mud and mildew can be challenging when trying to get your life back to normal.

Mud May Pose Hazards

Mud left behind by floodwaters may contain health hazards. It is important to get rid of mud as soon as possible and to use care when doing so.

Protect your eyes, mouth and hands. Wear rubber gloves, and if possible, a face mask when cleaning. Use a soap containing disinfectants to wash when you are done.

Solving Mildew Problems

High humidity may contribute to persistent mildew which will require aggressive cleaning. A solution of one part household bleach and four parts water will kill surface mildew and, if used as part of a regular maintenance program, will prevent mildew from returning.

A Word of Caution

When using household cleaners, disinfectants and bleach, always follow directions.

Be sure to read the labels and be aware of any caution or danger warnings. Never mix household bleach with other cleaning agents.

Think About Flood Insurance

As many Iowa residents found out in the aftermath of recent flooding, homeowner policies do not cover damage from rising waters. But those who do not have flood insurance can take steps now to protect themselves against future losses.

Flood insurance backed by the federal government is available to any homeowner, renter or business owner whose property is in a community that participates in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). In order to participate, the community must adopt and enforce local floodplain management ordinances designed to reduce the risk of future flood losses.

If you live in such a community, you can purchase flood insurance from any licensed insurance agent or company.

Premiums vary according to the flood risk your property is exposed to, the amount of coverage you purchase, the deductible you select and the type of building you are insuring. Nationwide, the average premium is about $300 per year for approximately $98,000 of coverage.

On a single-family home, you may purchase flood insurance coverage up to a maximum of $250,000 on the structure and up to $100,000 on the contents. If you are a business owner, the maximum is $500,000 on the building and another $500,000 on contents. If you are a renter, you can purchase up to $100,000 coverage for personal belongings.

Some people resist buying flood insurance in the faulty belief that, if flooding occurs, the government will bail them out. Federal disaster assistance is available only if a flood (or other disaster) is so large and widespread it warrants a major disaster declaration from the president. More than 90 percent of disasters are not presidentially declared. In the majority of floods, victims are on their own — unless they have flood insurance.

Even if your neighborhood is not in a floodplain, flood insurance is advisable. Floods can — and do — occur almost anywhere.

For more information, contact your local insurance agent or company or call the NFIP toll-free number, 1-800-720-1090.

There is a 30-day waiting period before new policies take effect, so don't delay.

Personal Inspections of Your Home Ensure the Right Kind of Help for You

Damage inspectors will schedule appointments to visit people who have registered for disaster assistance. If your home has been damaged, one or more inspectors may visit.

A FEMA inspector schedules an appointment to verify losses after you apply for disaster assistance through the toll free line: 1-800-462-9029 (1-800-462-7585 for the speech and hearing impaired).

If you apply for a U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) low-interest loan, SBA will send a loss verifier in most cases.

The American Red Cross sends loss verifiers if you apply for Red Cross assistance.

Local building and safety inspectors may be sent to see if damaged buildings are safe to enter.

All inspectors and verifiers carry official photo identification. If an inspector or verifier is not wearing an identification card or badge, ask to see it.

When you apply, you will be asked to prominently display your street address on the front of your house. This will help inspectors find your dwelling.

The debris left behind by the storms may be a source of injury or illness. Be careful when cleaning damaged structures or handling debris. Here are some safety tips:

- Always wear gloves and work boots;
- Separate hazardous materials from other debris;
- Always wash your hands after cleanup;
- Treat electrical lines and outlets with extreme care. Don't assume power is off.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) advises everyone to use extreme caution when returning to areas damaged by the recent floods.

Potential chemical hazards may be encountered during the repair and recovery efforts. The flooding may have moved containers of hazardous solvents or industrial chemicals from their normal storage places.

Do not try to remove any propane tanks. These represent a real danger of fire or explosion and the EPA urges you to call the police or fire department to report locations of tanks.

Car batteries may contain an electrical charge. Wear insulated gloves when removing car batteries. Avoid contact with any battery acid that may have spilled.
